It's not just a joke. If someone has been making sexist or homophobic comments to you, that's not okay.

What's Title IX?

Title IX is a federal law that protects students and school staff in federally funded education programs and activities from sex discrimination and sexual violence.

If you have experienced any sexual misconduct including sexual harassment, assault or dating violence you have rights under Title IX. This includes the right to go to school and school activities without experiencing behaviors that make it hard for you to learn. If you have experienced bullying or harassment, you also have a right to have your school investigate these behaviors and provide solutions so you don't have to experience these behaviors anymore.

To learn more about your rights contact your Title IX Coordinator.
